A Study of School Uniforms by Considering The Characteristic of Adolescence

College of Art and Design, Dankook Univ. Kim, Yeon-Hee

Prof. Dept. of Art and Design, Ewha womans Univ. Bae, Chun-Bum

A school uniform should be designed considering physical and mental development of adolescence so as to conduct scholarly activities in various environment. A school uniform should indicate educational spirits and precepts symbolically, and represent esthetic sense along with practical use.

The objective of school uniforms development is to perform as a social and cultural function with esthetic and utility. Also, the objective of school uniform design is to help growing as a decent social being in the belonging community. The scope of the research is to design the summer/winter and spring/fall uniforms which can be used by winter uniform of middle and high school students.

The adolescent characteristic and their clothing behaviors were studied, and the actual conditions of 9 middle and high schools in west side of Seoul were analysed and evaluated.

As a result of the requirements, school uniforms were designed by synthetic uniform design object. The uniform design is expected to be developed by considering not only a basic role but variety requirements such as a symbolization of schools.
